AN ACT,

To change the jurisdiction of the courts and the rules of pleading therein.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of North Carolina, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same: That from and after the first day of July eighteen hundred and sixty-six, the several superior courts of law shall have exclusive original jurisdiction to hear, try and determine all cases of a civil nature, not cognizable before a justice of the peace, and arising out of contracts entered into before the first day of May, in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-five, except when the proceeding shall be by attachment; Provided: That nothing herein contained shall prevent a court of pleas and quarter sessions from empannelling a jury to try controversies respecting wills upon issues devisavit vel non: Provided further, That all writs of debt, assumpsit, covenant and account issued to Spring Term, 1866, shall be returned Fall term, eighteen hundred and sixty six: Provided further, That in all suits ex-contracta the defendant or defendants shall be allowed six months from the return term to plead or demur.

Be it further enacted, That in all cases committed to the exclusive jurisdiction of the superior courts of law, by section first of this act, when suits have already been brought, and are now pending in any of the said courts, it shall be the duty of the court to give the defendant further time for trial, until the Fall term of eighteen hundred and sixty-six, when the same shall stand for trial as other suits; in all other cases suits may be brought and prosecuted to judgment according to the regular course of the court.

Be it further enacted, That in all cases as aforesaid, pending in superior courts, in which judgments have been heretofore taken, or may be hereafter taken, in the Superior courts, and upon which Executions have issued or may issue, it shall be the duty of the sheriff or other officer in whose hands such executions have been or may be placed for collection, to endorse a levy upon the property of the defendant or defendants sufficient to satisfy the same, and return such executions without making a sale; and upon said returns, it shall be the duty of the clerk, sixty days before the next term of the court, to issue a venditioni exponas or fieri facias, at the election of the plaintiff, returnable to the next term of the court for the costs and one fifth of the sum recovered; and all alias executions upon judgments heretofore taken, shall be returnable in like manner, and shall issue, for the like proportion of the judgments: Provided, That nothing contained in this section shall be held to revive dormant judgments.

Be it enacted, That upon the return of execution as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the clerk, sixty days before that term of the court which is held twelve months from the term to which such execution was returned to issue another conditional exponas or fieri facias, at the election of the plaintiff returnable to said term for one fourth of the remainder of the sum recovered and interest thereon; and upon said return it shall be the duty of the clerk, sixty days before that term of the Court which is held twelve months after said return, to issue executions as aforesaid for one half of the remainder of the sum recovered and interest thereon; and upon said return it shall be the duty of the clerk, sixty days before that term of the court which is held twelve months after said return, to issue execution as aforesaid for the remainder of the sum recovered and interest thereon: Provided, That if the defendant shall pay into office or file before the clerk a receipt from the plaintiff therefor, and any one of said installments, before the time fixed for issuing execution, as aforesaid, in such case execution shall be stayed for said installment: And provided further, That the judgment shall constitute a lien on the land of the defendant until said judgment is satisfied or the lien discharged by the act or laches of the plaintiff.

Be it further enacted, That so much of the seventeenth section, chapter one hundred and five of the revised code, as subjects a sheriff to a penalty of one hundred dollars for not executing and returning process, be and the same is hereby repealed, except as provides in this act as to all penalties which may be alleged to have been incurred by a compliance with the provisions of this act.

Be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of all constable and other officers to levy any executions which may be in their hands, issued upon judgments heretofore rendered by magistrates, and to return the same together with said levies to the justices of the peace who issued the same, or to some other magistrate in said county, whose duty it shall be, upon the application of the plaintiff to issue a venditioni exponas, returnable not sooner than twelve months from the date thereof and for the like proportion of the sum recovered as hereinbefore prescribed on executions issued from the Superior Court, and so from twelve months to twelve months until the judgment is satisfied. Provided, however, That when there is no personal property or not sufficient to satisfy the plaintiff's demands, it shall be the duty of such officer to levy the execution on the defendant's land, and when there is no personal property, or the same shall have been exhausted by sales as herein directed to return the same to the next succeeding Superior Court of the county, where the same proceedings shall be had as in cases of original jurisdiction in collecting payment by execution.

Be it further enacted, That hereafter civil process issued by justices of the peace, where the proceeding is not by attachment, shall be made returnable for trial twelve months after the date of issuing such warrant and not before; and no justice of the peace shall have power or jurisdiction to try any such warrants before the expiration of twelve months from the issuing of the same: Provided, That the defendant is a resident of the State; and all executions issued by a justice of the peace, shall be made returnable 12 months from the issuing of the same; and upon trial of such warrant either party may appeal from the judgment to the next succeeding term of the superior court by giving security as is now provided by law in case of appeal from justices' judgments; and upon judgments there had, according to the course of the court, and upon all judgments given by a magistrate and no appeal therefrom execution shall issue and be returnable in like manner and time and for the like proportion of the sum recovered as hereinbefore provided where suit is brought in the superior court; provided however, that all proceedings before any justice or justices for any forcible entry or detainer, or against any other person holding over against a landlord, or in any other case founded in tort, where jurisdiction has heretofore been given, or may hereafter be given to one or more justices by existing law, shall not be subject to the provision, but all such cases may be prosecuted to judgment and execution in the manner prescribed by law prior to the eleventh September, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, or as provided in any act or acts touching such wrongs and conferring such jurisdiction.

Be it further enacted, That if any sheriff, clerk or other officer shall violate any of the provisions of this act, he shall forfeit the sum of two hundred dollars to be recovered by any person suing for the same in the name of the State, and shall also be subject to indictment for a misdemeanor.

Be it further enacted, That none of the provisions of this act shall apply to the collection of the State or county revenue, or repeal any of the existing modes or remedies provided by law for the collection of the same.

Be it further enacted, That the tax fee upon justices' judgements returnable to the Superior Court shall be the same as is now taxed in the several county courts.

Be it further enacted, That the time of four years be extended to executors and administrators, wherein to settle the estates of their testators or intestates, and a further time in which to plead; at the discretion of the courts.

Be it further enacted, That the provisions of this act, extending the time of pleading and the return of executions, shall not apply to cases arising under chapter seven, revised code, entitled attachment; but proceedings may be instituted and prosecuted to judgment, and execution in all respects as is provided in the said chapter or any act or acts since passed, concerning attachment.

Be it further enacted, That any action or suit heretofore brought under any existing law, returnable to the next Fall Term of every Superior Court of law or equity, shall be deemed to have been properly brought to said courts, as if instituted after the next spring term of said court, and shall be proceeded with according to the provisions of this act.

Be it further enacted, That an act entitled, "An act to change the jurisdiction of the courts and the rules of pleading," ratified the eleventh day of Septemtember, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, and also an act entitled, "An act to restore the courts and for other purposes," ratified the fourteenth December, eighteen hundred and sixty-three, be, and the same are hereby repealed; and except as herein otherwise provided, full jurisdiction, civil and criminal, as conferred in the county courts, and the said Superior Courts of law and equity, in the revised code, shall be, and the same is hereby restored: Provided, that no one of the provisions of this act, save the first section thereof, shall apply to suits upon the official bonds of sheriffs, coroners, constables, clerks of the County and Superior Courts and Clerks and Masters in Equity, nor debts contracted since the first day of May, eighteen hundred and sixty-five; but the remedy in such cases shall remain as it existed in the year 1860.

Be it further enacted, That in all suits brought by any bank of the State or by any assignee or endorsee of said bank, or any officer of said bank, that it shall and may be lawful for the defendant or defendants to set off by plea or on trial any note issued by said bank or its branches, whether the same has been presented for payment or not, any law or usage to the contrary notwithstanding, but said plea of sett off or set off on trial shall not avail to carry costs against the plaintiff, unless there has been a tender of such payment before suit has been brought: Provided, That this act shall not apply to any debt reduced by the scale of depreciation of Confederate currency.

E. F. Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,
OR BONE MANURE.
WARRANTED GENUINE.

BEING MADE OF THE BEST MATERIAL AND in the most approved manner, it is recommended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise, and those engaged in its manufacture will continue their best endeavors to advance the high reputation which it has acquired.

We guarantee the Phosphate to be well manufactured, and recommend it in preference to any other artificial manure in the market. We consider it nearly equal to the best Peruvian Guano, although furnished at half the price.

Messrs. B. H. Allen & Co., the well known manufacturers of agricultural implements, say of it:

"We take pleasure in stating that we have sold E. F. Coe's Super Phosphate of Lime for four years.—It has given universal satisfaction to our customers. We most cheerfully endorse it as an article worthy of the confidence of the public, and the purchaser may rely upon securing an article honestly and carefully manufactured.

"We would state that, after careful examination, we believe this Phosphate has been improved each year since its introduction in this market, and that it will continue to maintain its present high standing. "Very respectfully,

"R. H. ALLEN & CO.,
"No. 191 Water street, New York."

E. FRANK COE, ESQ.,

Annexed please find result of my analysis of sample of your Super Phosphate of Lime left with me. This being such a superior article in every respect, I cannot refrain from congratulating you upon such manufacture, which undoubtedly will meet with great success.

Wishing you every success, I am,
Respectfully yours,
G. A. LEIBIG.

PROSPECTUS
COSMOPOLITE.

ON THE FIRST OF JANUARY WE WILL commence the publication, in the City of Baltimore, of a monthly

Literary Magazine.

There is no publication of this character now issued South of New York City, and the closing of the war has left a large portion of the people of the country with no literary representative.

The COSMOPOLITE will be devoted to Literature, Art, Reviews, Scientific Papers and General Reading, and we shall number among its contributors some of the first literary men of the South, with others from the North and from London and Paris.

All matter not original will be carefully selected from the newest and best of the English, French and German publications; and its Editors will spare no effort or expense to make it rank with the very first magazines of the country.

As its name imports, we have established the COSMOPOLITE upon no sectional basis. We hope to make it the organ of general literature alone; and will be unbalanced by any party or clique whatever.

It will be mailed to subscribers in any part of the country upon receipt of the following

Subscription:

Single Copies, for one year,	$4 00
Five Copies for one year,	18 00
Ten copies for one year,	38.00

☞ The COSMOPOLITE will be generally distributed among the Merchants and Planters of the South, and we will add, for their information, a few advertisements, at moderate rates.

☞ Liberal deductions will be made to booksellers and newsdealers.

☞ Newspapers publishing this prospectus and sending a marked copy to the undersigned, will receive a copy of the magazine. Address

The Plot Thickens.

The evidence becomes more and more palpable, that the real source of the bitterness, the malice, and unkind feeling which prompts the course of the Radicals or "strait-sect" men in this State, is the fact that they are not in possession of all the offices in the State. Union, the quiet of the country, and good will among ourselves, are small matters, indeed seem to be valueless, unless they can enjoy all the political power in the State and the emoluments of office.

If the readers of the Standard can account for its course in any other way, they are better advised of its aims than we are. To accomplish this end, its supporters seem to stop at nothing, which will injure the reputation of our people at the North, subject the State to the worst suspicions, and make it the butt of the vindictive purposes of the ultra Radicals. So far as we can judge, nothing would delight them so much, as to throw the State back under the most crushing military despotism, kindle up the resentments and hates which have destroyed the lives and peace of thousands in Tennessee, and forever banish from the homes and graves of their fathers, those whom they delight to abuse as "secessionists and latter day war men."

The spirit which has pervaded the Standard, since the defeat of its favorite candidate for Governor, has indicated nothing else but a spirit of bitter revenge against the people of North Carolina, because they dared to express an honest opinion at the ballot box. The following sentence, which we have heretofore noticed, is the text of that paper, upon which it intends to expatiate until its object is effected:

"And we now give notice that we have commenced this warfare on traitors, not without having counted the cost, and we intend to continue it until they are driven from every office of importance in the State."

In no other State, except in Tennessee, do we see this spirit so bitter as in North Carolina. No where else have the advocates of this foul spirit presses to enforce their sentiments, except in this State and Tennessee, and perhaps, with very inconsiderable exceptions elsewhere. The Petersburg Index in noticing the above quotation attaches to it the following idea:

"The Standard's idea of Unionism, like that of a great many other people is getting the offices."

Precisely. That is the definition of the word union, in the estimation of the radicals of the North, and the "strait sect" in this State are their close imitators

We think the object of the Standard and the agitators, is now palpable. They are making every effort to defeat President Johnson's policy; to encourage and sustain the aims of the Radicals, in order that the Southern States, and North Carolina in particular, shall be thrown back under Provisional Governors, by which all offices now filled would be declared vacant, and all laws would be suspended or abrogated.

There are many intelligent men of proper feelings, who have hitherto acted with the "strait sect" men, who could not be forced to take part in such designs, yet there are those who are easily led, as was clearly shown in the debate on Mr. Manly's resolutions the other day.

Judge Manly's resolutions were perfectly unexceptionable in temper, truthful in their statements, and orthodox in their positions. We have heretofore published them. The most that could have been objected, was that they would effect nothing. They asserted no claim for office for "secessionists or latter day war men," asked no privilege or right which President Johnson's proclamation did not give to all pardoned men, and asked no favor for the unpardoned, except that their civil disabilities might be removed. And yet they are attacked fiercely, and Mr. Coats, of Johnston, in order to defeat the object and get up a conflict, proposed the following:

WHEREAS, During the late rebellion, Union men were proscribed and held as disloyal, and treated as unworthy of any official position, civil or military;

Be it resolved, That no man, known as an original secessionist, or latter day war man, should hold or enjoy any office or place of trust or profit under the government of North Carolina; and the President is hereby requested to declare all such offices vacant, so that they may be filled by true and loyal men.

The preamble makes a general assertion, which is untrue, and which can only be shown to be true of a few persons. If the editor of the Standard and Mr. Coates and Mr. Lyon and Mr. Henry and Mr. McDonald, the defenders of the foregoing, are specimens of the Union men alluded to above, the allegation is untrue, so far as our information extends. Neither of them were denied civil or military office, because they were Union men. And as to civil office both during the rebellion and since, most of them have had more than they deserved, if capacity and competency for the positions they have filled, had been taken into the account. The above preamble and resolution bear the marks of the temper and the pen of the editor of the Standard, and Mr. Coates a simple hearted man, served as the funnel or medium of their development.

But the evidences of the plot are still stronger. We learn, that Mr. A. H. Jones, the individual elected to Congress from the mountain District, of whom it is at one time said he could take the "test oath," and at another time that he could not, has been writing letters to the damage and inconvenience of the people of his District. No portion of the State is really more loyal than the mountain District. No portion of the State, suffers so much for the want of mail facilities as that portion of the State.

It is affirmed, that this same Mr. Jones has recently addressed letters to the Attorney General of the United States, and to another gentlemen in Washington City, representing that the mail contractors are too disloyal to be trusted—that the whole State is disloyal, and that the best thing that can be done, is to break up the civil government of the State and throw us back under a Provisional Governor,—declare void the elections and of course the oaths of every man, and begin afresh to reconstruct the State!

If these things be so, the people of that District ought to know it. Mr. Jones is only dancing to the tune of the Standard. The Standard has dug its own political grave, and Mr. Jones is digging his. If ever the people of that District have another chance, they certainly will never consent to be represented by a man of Mr. Jones, abilities, or one who is so reckless of the interests of his constituency.

We call the particular attention of our readers to the testimony of Gen. Thomas in relation to the state of public opinion in Tennessee. Gen. Thomas says:

"That secret organizations exist in all the rebel States, whose purpose is to obtain representation in Congress—then to impair or destroy the credit of the national government, involve the country in a foreign war, and then avail themselves of the opportunity thus created to effect a dissolution of the Union and the establishment of a separate government."

This is startling information. This secret organization is, no doubt, in existence in North Carolina. It is highly treasonable in its character, and those who belong to it should be ferreted out and brought to punishment.

Standard.

What object could our neighbor have in publishing the above? Does the Standard believe, that there is one word of truth in the statement in regard to North Carolina? We respectfully put the question to Gov. Holden, Do you believe a word of it, when you say, "This organization is no doubt in existence in North Carolina?" If you do, you must have some reason for that belief. You do not speak or act without a motive—without a reason. Please state, why you believe there is such an organization in North Carolina? What evidence is there for such belief? We deny that such an organization exists. We deny that the objects attributed to such associations by Gen. Thomas, influence at all either the talk, the aims or purposes of our people.

We pledge ourselves to aid in the exposure of any and all such organizations. We agree with the Standard, that such an organization, having the purposes attributed to it by Gen. Thomas, is treasonable, and we will aid the Standard and the government in detecting, arresting and punishing such.

We are confident that Gen. Thomas is laboring under erroneous impressions. He has been deceived by interested, bad men. We are opposed to all secret political organizations. We have always been opposed to them. If any such organization now exists in any of the Southern States, we believe they should be exposed and broken up.

But we do not believe that any such organization exists. The treatment received by the people of Tennessee from Brownlow and his radicals, would justify organized political opposition, but not secret organization. But the idea, that any class of men should band themselves together for the purposes stated by Gen. Thomas, strikes us as preposterous.

The Legislature.

The entire term of the late Legislature embraced seventy-seven days. During this period a large number of elections were effected, about four thousand magistrates were appointed, and about 250 to 300 acts and resolutions were adopted. Many of these acts are highly important, though some of equal importance failed to pass.

It is therefore plain, that a good deal of work was done. There might have been more done, and what was done might have been better done, but no Legislature of the State, has ever labored under greater impediments. Never was legislation more difficult.

We regret that the Common Schools were not provided for, yet we are sure most of those who voted against suitable provision, felt that it was impossible to do any thing. More might have been done to add to the increase of capital in the State, yet upon the whole, looking at the real condition of the people, we feel bound to accept what was done as evidence of the liberality and enlightened judgment of the body. The determination of the Legislature to sustain the credit of the State, was an act highly creditable to it.

Inconsistency.

We give to-day a synopsis, compiled by the Richmond Whig and others, of the views of the leading Black Republicans, before and during the war, in regard to the right of secession and the true interpretation of the Virginia and Kentucky resolutions of 1798 and 99. The views then set forth were identical with those of the N. C. Standard and the leading secessionists of the South. In that day we opposed their extreme views, and pointed out their ultimate results; now when those results have legitimately followed, they turn their backs upon them—discard every principle of State-rights really inherent or taught by the Constitution, to accomplish the greater ruin of the South.

To contrast their conduct then and now, really looks as if the real design of the Radical leaders was to cajole the South into secession in order more effectually to complete her ruin. We can have no confidence in the principles or motives of men who enforce principles in one class of circumstances to be abandoned in another while have steadfastly confronted our troops on every mutual frontier, without losing ground, we may consider that the republic has been betrayed by the folly or incompetence of its trusted leaders, and that disunion is a fixed fact."

"It is just absurd to talk of a three years' war for the Union."—[Tribune, June 27, 1861.

"If three months more of earnest fighting shall not serve to make a serious impression on the rebels—if the end of that term shall find us no farther advanced than its beginning—if some maliguant fate has decreed that the blood and treasure of the nation shall ever be squandered in fruitless efforts, let us bow to our destiny and make the best attainable peace.—(Tribune January 20, 1862.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

The Chicago Tribune, in December, 1860, in discussing the policy of the incoming Administration, said: "The drift of opinion seems to be that if peaceable secession is possible, the retiring States will be assisted to go," and appealed to its readers, "Do not let us make that impossible."

INDIANAPOLIS JOURNAL.

(The New York Journal of Commerce says the Indianapolis Journal was in 1860-'61, as now, an able and ardent exponent of radical views, and that the following quotations are a sample of the utterance of a large part of the radicals at that time.)

[From the Indianapolis Journal, November 13, 1860.]

They know very well that if they are determined to leave the Union, no Republican will care to have them stay. A Union preserved only by intimidation and force is a mockery, and it is better broken than whole. If South Carolina and her associates in folly really want to leave the Union, they can go without a word of objection from any man North of Mason and Dixon's Line. * * * We do not believe in resisting any secession movement in the least.

[From the Indianapolis Journal, November, 15, 1860.

There will be no collision of hostile forces unless she (South Carolina) makes it, for the people of the North will never raise or use an army to force any State to stay in the Union.—Such a Union would combine all the burthens of union and all the weakness of disunion.—"Coercion" we regard as out of the question in any case.

[From the Indianapolis Journal, November 15, 1860.]

The Declaration of Independence is our authority that any State or nation deliberately resolving that its government is intolerable, has a right to change it. And it nowhere declares that anybody has the right to judge whether the government is intolerable but those who propose to change it. We would not permit England to judge for us whether her government was oppressive to us. We have no right to judge for South Carolina whether our government is oppressive to her. * * * Thus, we neither strengthen our government or increase our revenue, or assist our prosperity, by fighting the seceded States, and we violate a right asserted in our own Declaration of Independence, we meanly insist upon an association that is contemptously repelled, and we end in splitting the government a little more hopelessly than any peaceable secession could do.

[From the Indianapolis Journal, January 19, 1861.]

We believed, and still believe, that the true province of government is not more to preserve itself than to adapt itself to the demands of the governed, and that a war to maintain one government over those who believe that they would be better off under another, is unwise, cruel, and, in Americans, inconsistent.

CHAPTER OF QUOTATIONS.

From Republican Leaders and Editors, on State Rights, Secession and the late War.

SENTOR WADE.

[From Speech of Mr. Wade, of Ohio, United States Senate, 1855: Appendix to Congressional Globe, p. 213, et seq.]

I am one of those who, not only when an election is pending, but at all times, believe in the wisdom, the constitutionality, and the propriety of the Virginia resolutions of 1798 and 1799. I ground myself upon these resolutions; and, standing upon them, I denounce this bill as a violation, not only of the spirit of those resolutions, but as an attempt to trample upon the rights of the States and deprive them of the power to protect their own citizens from agression and abuse.

Who is to be the judge in the last resort of the violation of the Constitution of the United States by the enactment of a law? Who is the final arbiter? The General Government, or the States in their sovereignty? Why, sir, to yield that point, is to yield up all the rights of the States to protect their own citizens, and to consolidate this Government into a miserable despotism. I tell you, sir, whatever you may think of it, if this bill pass, collisions will arise between the Federal and State jurisdictions—conflicts more dangerous than all the wordy wars which are got up in Congress—conflicts in which the States will never yield; for the more you undertake to load them with acts like this, the greater will be their resistance. * *

I stated that this bill was intended to promote and help the execution of the fugitive bill. The Senator does not deny it. I said there were States in this Union whose highest tribunals had adjudged that bill to be unconstitutional, and that I was one of those who believed it unconstitutional; that my State believed it unconstitutional; and that under the old resolutions of 1798 and 1799, a State must not only be the judge of that but of the remedy in such a case. * * * * *

There is one sovereign State which has asserted the great doctrine which your State, sir, (Mr. Mason in the chair,) invoked in 1798 to free yourselves from the exercise of power that threatened to reduce you to slavery. Your great ancestors rose against it, and made the declaration of the platform on which I stand today.

You have driven the North against the wall; she has been forced, reluctantly, to take her stand there, but she will defend her rights. *

* * * * * * * *

Now, let me ask any man if these resolutions [of 1798] do not sustain the doctrine which I have mentioned to-day? I never ridiculed them. I always believed it was necessary to invoke their principles as the last resort, to defend the liberty of the citizen who was to pass his days in freedom, beneath the protection of the laws of his own State, and prevent the controlling and centralizing power of this great Government, and I believe it to-day.

(In the subsequent Congress Mr. Wade spoke as follows. We borrow the quotation from the Cincinnati Enquirer:)

"If they (Southern gentlemen) do not feel interested in upholding this Union—if it really trenches on their rights—if it endangers their institutions to such an extent that they cannot feel secure under it—if their interests are violently assailed by means of the Union—I am not one of those who expect that they will long continue under it. I am not one of those who would ask them to stay in such a Union. It would be doing violence to the party to which I belong. We have adopted the old Declaration of Independence as the basis of our political movement, which declares that any people, when their government ceases to protect their rights, when it is so perverted from the true purposes of government as to oppress them, have the right to recur to fundamental principles, and, if need be, to destroy the government under which they live, and to erect on its ruins another more conducive to their welfare. I hold that they have this right. I will not blame any people for exercising it, whenever they think the contingency has come.

I certainly shall be the advocate of the same doctrine whenever I find that the principles of this Government have become so oppressive to the section to which I belong, that a free people ought not longer to endure it. You will not then find ME backward in being the advocate of DISUNION; but that contingency never having come, I have never yet opened my mouth in opposition to the Union. But I say, for Heaven's sake, act, not talk. I am tired of this eternal din "of dissolution of the Union" which is brought up on all occasions, and thrust into our faces, as though we, of the North, had some peculiar reasons for maintaining the Union that the Southern States have not. I hope the Union will continue forever. I believe it may continue forever, I see nothing at present which I think should dissolve it; but if the gentlemen see it, I say again that they have the same interest in maintaining this Union, in my judgment, that we of the North have. If they think they have not, be it so. You cannot forcibly hold men in this Union; for the attempt to do so, it seems to me, would subvert the first principles of the Government under which we live.

SENATOR WILSON.

[From speech of Mr. Wilson, United States Senator, February 23d, 1855, appendix Congressional Globe, p. 233.]

"I recognize the doctrine of State Rights in its application to slavery as well as to other matters of public concern. I will stand side by side with my Democratic friends in vindication of the Virginia and Kentucky Resolutions of 1798-99, which they have endorsed."

In a letter written by Wilson in 1855, to Vespasian Ellis, he said:

"I fully recognize the doctrine of State Rights in its application to slavery as well as to any other matter of public concern. The Virginia and Kentucky Resolutions of 1798, in the main, as I think, correctly set forth that doctrine."

HORACE GREELEY.

[Extracts from the N. Y. Tribune, before the war.]

We insist on letting them go in peace. The right to secede may be a revolutionary one, but it exists nevertheless.—[Tribune, Nov. 9, 1860.

If the cotton States unitedly and earnestly wish to withdraw peacefully from the Union, we think they should and would be allowed to do so. REMARKS OF MR. BERRY, OF ORANGE,

In favor of the amendment of the bill to fund the coupons or State bonds, in the Senate, Thursday evening, March 8th.

MR. SPEAKER:—The amendment offered to the bill now under consideration, by the Senator from Guilford, will accomplish all that that bill proposes, and a great deal more; it will meet the existing liabilities of the State, and to some extent afford a circulating medium to relieve the people—a thing they need so much.

Mr. Speaker, the General Assembly has been in session some fifty days or more, and notwithstanding, there is not one dollar of State currency in circulation, they have up to this moment refused to pass any bill that will afford them relief. As late as it is in the session, I hope Senators will come to the rescue, and show a disposition to extend this relief by adopting the amendment proposed by the Senator from Guilford. If this proposition could be submitted to the people we represent, I don't believe there would be one in fifty, but what would vote for the amendment.

We propose to raise by taxation in the revenue bill we have passed, three or four hundred thousand dollars for the present fiscal year, in addition to the one now called upon to pay to the Federal government the rise of $500,000. The question then presents itself, how are the people to raise this eight hundred thousand dollars to meet this enormous tax served on them? The ordinance of the Convention that repudiated the war debt, destroyed all the Banks of the State with a capital of over seven million of dollars; it repudiated all the currency in the pockets of the people to the amount of the rise of thirteen million of dollars, and left them without any available means to meet this enormous tax,; and if Senators still persist in refusing to give them any relief, a fearful responsibility will rest upon them. If Senators will reflect for a moment, they will at once perceive the destitute condition of the large mass of the people all over the State. Their laborers are taken from them; their stocks lost; the debts due them from individuals not available; their lands uncultivated to a very great extent; their entire resources exhausted by the contending armies of both sections, and, Mr. Speaker, it is certainly the imperative duty of the Legislature, to afford the people of the State every facility within their power to enable them to extricate themselves from the fearful vortex before them. The tax payers are on the very margin of ruin, and unless the Legislature provide the ways and means to give them some indulgence, they will be carried over the fearful precipice.

Archbishop Spalding of Baltimoore, has been appointed Apostolic Delegate by the Pope, with authority to convene a council of all the Roman Catholic Archbishops and Bishops of the United States, and to preside over the same. The meeting will take place in Baltimore, in September or October.

DAILY SENTINEL.

Wednesday, March 14, 1866.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

Mrs. Ball's Case.

We learn from the Standard that the Court has adjudged Mrs. Ball guilty of manslaughter, for the killing of James Thomas, a freedman, and that she has been sentenced to one years confinement in a penitentiary. If Gen. Ruger has the power to do so we hope he will remit the imprisonment or dissent from the penalty, and let the poor woman return to her helpless children. The evidence in her case, we think very strongly indicated that she was in danger from Jim's course, and a jury would have adjudged it justifiable homicide.

If nothing else will do, we hope there will be an appeal made to the President in her behalf. The Commission we doubt not took a different view of the evidence from what we did.

BURGLARY.—We observe from the Newbern Times, that our friends, Mitchell, Allen & Co., had their store broken open on Friday night last, and about $20 in cash and $400 in pistols, knives, &c., stolen. No trace of the thief has been found.

CORRECTION.—The Wilmington Dispatch says that the sad rencontre between Maj. Monroe and Mr. Angus Shaw, did not occur on the tournament ground, but at a "wagon camp" about a mile distant.

The Stay Law.

We insert a corrected copy of the Stay Law, recently passed by the Legislature. Much anxiety is felt to see it. Perhaps, it is less objectionable than the previous one, yet, like all stay laws, it asserts the right of the Legislature to interfere with legitimate contracts,—a principle at war with the constitution.

We believe if the Legislature had encouraged the influx of capital in the State more largely and liberally, and had provided for the increase of Banking capital, the stay law would have been found unnecessary, and the results ultimately would have been better. The call, however, was so general among the people for some kind of a stay law, that it could scarcely be resisted.

WHAT DOES HE MEAN?—The Greensboro Patriot says: "We learn that the firm of Battle, Heck & Co., of Raleigh, has been dissolved by mutual consent, and we suppose is to be succeeded by the "Real Estate Bank of North Carolina," which institution will, doubtless, be more successful in transferring the lands of dejected Southerners to "Northern capitalists."

Our friend of the Patriot surmises without foundation. Messrs. Battle, Heck & Co., had nothing to do with the idea of a "Real Estate Bank." We do not know that a single member of the firm approves it. Its conclusion in regard to the effects of the "Real Estate Bank" is equally wild, and shows that the writer has not spent a moment in considering it. The "Real Estate Bank" proposed by the Sentinel, would more effectually secure the landed interests of the State in the possession of our own people, than any proposition which could be made. We will demonstrate this hereafter.

There have been 2,070 persons pardoned in the State of Virginia, and 482 persons pardoned in the State of North Carolina, by the President, under the 13th exception, or the twenty thousand dollar clause, since the issuance of the Amnesty Proclamation.

EDUCATION.—That there is great neglect paid to the subject of education by the legislature of North Carolina seems apparent, but this is not to be wondered at, for never within our recollection has there been such general apathy on the subject among the people. They need to be awakened—the press slumbers, the pulpit sleeps and the people doze away in blissful ease. Never was there a time when the Southern people should have been more alive to this important subject, than now, and there has never been a period when they were as little so.

It is needless for any one to say the future is dark, and we cannot see our way clear, to give our children, even the rudiments of a common school education. It is your duty to give not only your own children the very best education attainable; but it is also an imperative duty, to aid your poor neighbor to give his children all that you can.

Establish schools in every neighborhood, get the best teachers, male or female, that you can. There are many disabled soldiers, there are many educated ladies, whom the fortunes of war have left in straitened circumstances, who would gladly teach to aid in the support of themselves and familes. If you have not the money, pay in something they can make available in supporting themselves. Do not wait for the State, but little will, or can, be done now. Half the money that has been spent in legislating could have been much more profitably expended to educate the youth of the State, but it has not been done, and it is useless to expect much for twelve months, or more. Work, then, yourselves. Let the principle men of each neighborhood see to it that a school is started and kept up as long as possible. Let the Teachers, already employed, take as many poor children as they possibly can afford to do. Let the ladies of each town and village associate themselves into an Educational aid society; seek out the children whose parants are unable to school them, and obtain places for them. Let all do their parts, and a brighter future awaits us.

We cannot afford to wait for a better time, or for legislative aid. We must be up and doing, or a sea of ignorance and crime will engulph us, and fit the coming generation for the political and social degradation, to which our enemies would reduce us.—Goldsboro News.

[Special Dispatch to the Baltimore Sun.]

The Desire to Cast off Stevens---Assessing Officeholders for Elections---Mr. Dennison's Recent Letter, &c.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The vote to-day in the Senate on the constitutional amendment shows the disposition of many Republicans to cast off the Stevens tyranny. So it is regarded in high quarters.

It is not understood, among friends of the President, that the letter of Postmaster General Dennison suggested the support of persons calling themselves Unionists who are opposed to the Executive and his great policy. The President has decidedly condemned the practice of assessing officeholders for election purposes, and their absenting themselves from duty to interfere in elections. ALPHA.

Reciprocity Trade.

WASHINGTON, March 13.

Some weeks ago a delegation from the British provinces visited Washington with the view of continuing the reciprocity trade between the United States and Provinces. A bill was reported for this purpose in the House several days ago. It was discussed on last night and was rejected. The foreign tariff act will now apply to the provinces.

Thad. Stevens on the President.

WASHINGTON, March 11.

Representative Stevens of Pennsylvania, in his speech yesterday, was insidiously severe on President Johnson. While he declared his admiration for the latter's patriotism and honesty, he said this did not prevent him from differing in opinion from the President.

Mr. Price inquired whether this was the same Thaddeus Stevens to whom the President alluded in his late speech, to which Mr. Stevens replied, amid laughter, that that speech was an invention of the enemy—a hoax like that of the moon story.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

Are the most perfect purgative which we are able to produce, or which we think has ever yet been made by any body. Their effects have abundantly shown to the community how much they excel the ordinary medicines in use. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. Their penetrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood, and expel disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distemper, stimulate sluggish or disordered organs into their natural action, and impart a healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of everybody, but also formidable and dangerous diseases. While they produce powerful effects, they are at the same time, in diminished doses, the safest and best physic that can be employed for children. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take; and, being purely vegetable, are free from any risk of harm. Cures have been made which surpass belief, were they not substantiated by men of such exalted position and character, as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Many eminent clergymen and physicians have lent their names to certify to the public the reliabilities of our remedies, while others have sent us the assurance of their conviction that our Preparations contribute immensely to the relief of our afflicted, suffering fellow men.

The Agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis our American Almanac, containing directions for the use, and certificates of their cures, of the following complaints:

Costiveness, Bilious Complaints, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Heartburn, Headache arising from foul stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Morbid Inaction of the bowels and pain arising therefrom, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, all Diseases which require an evacuant medicine. They also, by purifying the blood and stimulating the system cure many complaints which it would not be supposed they could reach, such as Deafness, Partial Blindness, Neuralgia and Nervous Irritability, Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys, Gout and other kindred complaints arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with other preparations which they make more profit on. Demand AYER'S and take no other. The sick want the best aid there is for them and they should have it.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., and sold by Williams & Haywood, P. F. Pescud, Raleigh, N. C., and Dealers generally.

DAILY SENTINEL

WM. B. PELL, Proprietor.

NOTHING IS LOST.

Where is the snow?
'Tis not long ago
It covered the earth with a veil of white
We heard not its footsteps soft and light,
Yet there it was in the morning bright;
Now it hath vanished away from sight.
Not a trace remains
In fields or lanes.

Where is the frost?
They are gone and lost—
The forms of beauty last night it made,
With pictures rare were windows arrayed;
"Be silent," it said; the brook obeyed
Yet silence and picturesque all did fade.
At the smile of the sun
All was undone.

Where is the rain?
Pattering it came,
Dancing along with a merry sound.
A grassy bed in the field it found;
Each drop came on the roof with a bound,
Where is the rain? It hath left the ground,
What good hath it done,
Gone away so soon?

Ever, ever
Our best endeavor
Seemeth to fall like the melted snow,
We work out our thoughts wisely and slow;
The seeds we sow, but it will not grow,
Our hopes, our resolves—where do they go?
What doth remain?
Memory and pain.

Nothing is lost—
Nor snow, nor frost
That comes to enrich the earth again,
We thank them when the ripening grain
Is waving over the hill and plain,
And the pleasant rain springs from earth again,
All endeth in good—
Water and food.

Never despair;
Disappointment bear,
Though hope seemeth vain, be patient still;
Thy good intents Good doth fulfill.
Thy hand is weak; His powerful will
Is finishing thy life-work still;
Thy good endeavor
Is lost—Ah! never.

Slander.

I have known a country society which withered away all to nothing under the dry rot of gossip only. Friendships, once as granite, dissolved to jelly and then ran to water, only because of this; love that promised a future as enduring as heaven and as stable as truth, evaporated into mist that turned to a day's long tears, only because of this; a father and son were set foot to foot with a fiery breath of anger that would never cool again between them, only because of this; and a husband and his young wife, each straining at the hated lash which in the beginning had been the golden bondage of a God-blessed love, sat mournfully by the side of the grave where all their joy lay buried, also because of this. I have seen faith transformed to mean doubt, hope give place to grim despair, and charity take on itself the features of black malevolence, all because of the spell words of scandal, and the magic words of gossip. Great crimes work great wrongs, and the deeper tragedies of human life spring from its larger passions; but woful and most melancholy are the uncatalogued tragedies that issue from gossip and detraction; most mournful the shipwreck made of noble natures and lovely life by the bitter winds and dead salt waters of scandal. So easy to say, yet so hard to disprove—throwing on the innocent all the burden and the strain of demonstrating their innocence, and punishing them as guilty if unable to pluck out the stings they never see, and to silence words they never hear—gossip and slander are the deadliest and cruellest weapons man has forged for his brother's hurt.

Jamaica Morality.

The London Sunday Gazette says of the Jamaica negroes that, on week-days they wear ragged clothes, which are not inconvenient in hot climates, and on Sundays they dress with unusual splendor. Magistrates and owners of property concur in the statement that the extraordinary prevalence of petty theft is in no degree owing to the pressure of property. The culprits are in almost all cases young, strong and healthy; and they pilfer because it is less trouble to take their neighbor's property than to work on their account. One of the governor's informants oddly illustrates the character of the negroes by expressing an opinion that if the soil and climate were those of Devonshire, it would be impossible to make cider, because all the apples would be stolen. A law which was recently passed for the corporeal punishment of men and boys convicted of larceny, seems to have received universal approval. The morality of the people is not in other respects satisfactory. Two-thirds of the children are illegitimate; and there is no law compelling the father to support his offspring. The Assembly—composed chiefly of blacks—objects to a bastardy, on the ground that the women would always perjure herself. But the real reason is supposed to be that the legislators hesitate to pass it, because it would oftentimes be enforced against themselves.

SOLEMN TESTIMONY.—Dr. Spring, reviewing his long ministerial career, gives the following testimony, which is instructive, solemn, and full of warning:

I have seen Universalists and infidels die, and during a ministry of fifty-five years, I have not found a single instance of peace and joy in their new views of eternity. No, nothing by an accusing conscience, and the terrors of apprehension. I have seen men die who were men of mercurial temperament, men of pleasure and fun, men of taste and literature, lovers of the opera and the theatre, rather than the house of God; and I never saw an instance in which such persons died in peace. They died as they lived. Life was a blank, and death the king of terrors: a wasted life, and undone eternity!"

THE CHARMER.—Let the wife only understand and have faith in her true position—that of woman "the helper,"—and she needs neither great gifts, nor an expansive mind, nor extraordinary beauty, to be always charming to her husband, and while she walks by his side, to "fill all the steps of life with music." In being literally his "help meet," she becomes the beautifier and healer of his life. If the vine about the oak tree, to which she is often compared, be truly her emblem, it is because she binds together the broken boughs, and drapes with verdurous loveliness the withered branches.

A young couple had been married by a Quaker, and after the ceremony, he remarked to the husband.

"Friend, thou art now at the end of thy troubles." A few weeks after, the young man came to the good minister, boiling over with rage, (his wife was a regular vixen.) "I thought you told me that I was at the end of my troubles?"

"So I did, friend, but I did not say which end."

A Frenchman, who proposed establishing a school, having heard that a high school would be more respectably patronized, took rooms in the garret of a four story house.

LIFE INSURANCE NOTICE.

THE old and well established
Ætna Company, of Hartford,
Offers superior inducements to all who wish to provide for family or friends.
All losses are promptly paid. No case of litigation has ever occurred with this Company. With assetts of $2,300,000, it offers to receive one half of the premium in a note and half in cash, and, after the second year, to credit each customer with the dividends of the Company, which are now 50 per cent. With a small outlay, $5000, or $10,000, or $20,000, may be secured to the family after their earthly providers are taken away. What father or husband would not feel thankful on his dying couch, that he had availed himself of every proper means to place those nearest and dearest to him, above the probings of want, and a life of dependence upon friends or charity? 8 819 policies have been issued from the office ending Jan. 15, 1866. The total income for the year 1865 was $1,683,339 57; total disbursements $527,805 24, leaving a balance to surplus fund of $1,155,244 33.
In Raleigh a large number have liberally responded and promptly acted in this matter; yet many delay, and may wait until it is too late. A man in this city lately left his place of business for his evening meal, well and healthy, but never reached that home except as he was carried there to die. Had that man taken the advice of the Agent, he might have left $5000 to minister to the necessities of a sorrowing family. Delays are dangerous, procrastination destructive. But one says, "If I only had confidence in the Company that it would pay, I would insure." Well, it never has failed to pay, and to-day is more responsible than ever before. It is patronized by some of the most sagacious minds in the land—men competent to detect and expose any deception if it existed.

In its action, it is as quick as Peruvian Guano, while it does not leave the land in an exhausted state, but on the other hand permanently improves it. This has been fully proven by years of trial.

PROSPECTUS
OLD NORTH STATE.
"The Old North State Forever."

THE undersigned will commence the publication of a Daily and Weekly Newspaper, bearing the above title, in the city of Salisbury about the 10th of March next.
The Old North State will be, under our control, a firm and decided Union paper. But while it will be firm and decided in its support of the Union, and of all just and necessary measures tending to its complete restoration, it will yet be liberal and conservative. It will oppose radicalism from whatever quarter it may come. Confiding in the loyal intentions of the great body of the people of North Carolina, it will endeavor to soothe the asperities of the past by promoting among them a spirit of reconciliation and harmony.
Rejecting the exploded dogma of paramount State sovereignty, it will cheerfully support the National government in the exercise of every power necessary to the maintenance of its rightful authority, while it will ever contend against any encroachments upon the reserved rights of the States.
It will discuss all the various political issues of the day, but in doing this it will seek to avoid everything like partizan bitterness or personal vituperation. It will also strive to avoid that detestable practice, so common among politicians, of pandering to the passions and appealing to the prejudices of the multitude in order to accomplish partizan ends. It will endeavor to enlighten and direct aright public sentiment, by disseminating correct information, and by arguments addressed to the understanding—in short, it will endeavor to erect a high standard of political morality.
Its columns will be open for Political, Moral, Literary and Agricultural articles especially, and to the advertising public.
The Old North State will be printed on new type on the following

THE LOYALIST.
THE undersigned propose to publish in Louisburg, North Carolina, a newspaper under the above denomination. The LOYALIST, as its name imports, will yield a firm, uniform, and fearless support to the Constitution of the United States, and all laws enacted in pursuance of that great instrument. To the decisions of the Supreme Court of the nation, in such questions as originate in the interpretation or application of the principles involved in our federal jurisprudence or policy, the Loyalist will accord its unqualified acquiescence, as to the will of the American people, duly expressed through the only legitimate, determinate and sufficient medium. Its general politics will be those so long and so thoroughly taught by the patriotism, the eloquence, and the wisdom of Clay, and his departed compeers, and so fearfully vindicated by the present melancholy and helpless condition of the communities so recently arrayed in arms against the integrity and harmony of our national union.
The Loyalist would make the institutions and independence the material and moral dignity of the nation, as enduring and as brilliant as the stars whose images adorn the field and the folds of its flag. The Loyalist will also dedicate its energies and exert its abilities to ascertain and cherish the interests, as well as to develope the immense resources of North Carolina. To the cause of education, the general diffusion of knowledge, the elevation of the masses, and the religious culture of all within its influence, it will be a consistent and inflexible friend. Its editorial department will be conducted by gentlemen whose names will be announced in due time.
The LOYALIST will be issued weekly, carefully printed, of the size of the Raleigh "Daily Sentinel," and furnished to patrons at $3.00 per annum, payable on delivery of the first number. Subscriptions and communications respectfully solicited.
